Ex School Principal
Ohio Poultryman

En route from their home in Wooster, Ohio, to visit their daughter in Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Uhl stopped at The News-Bulletin office to renew acquaintances and to tell of the many changes they have noticed in Mokena since they moved.

Mr. Uhl will be remembered as being the principal of the old Mokena grade school during 1925 and 1926.

From a modest beginning in 1933 they went into poultry raising and now own and operate their 700 acre "Ohio Poultry Farm" on which they hatch around 160,000 chicks every three weeks according to Mr. Uhl.

They made their start by purchasing 28 Rhode Island reds and constructing a four by four brooder house. The chicks were bought at an egg laying contest which was held at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago in 1933.

Mr. and Mrs. Uhl expressed surprise at the way the village has grown in size, inquired about many of their old friends and wished that they had more time to visit all of them.

APOLOGIES

In our write up of the Homecoming exhibit tent we inadvertently omitted the section covering the Girl Scout exhibit of a typical camp, which was set up in miniature and also a map of the Trailways girl scout units in Will county and Kankakee areas.

We think the Girl Scouts did a fine job and had a very attractive exhibit on display.

Coal is a flexible material and may readily be converted into many useful forms.

In Utah, better than 99 per cent of all coal produced is by mechanical methods.

Electric utility consumption of coal in 1953 was 9 million tons above 1952.

West Virginia in 1953 used more explosives in mining 132 million than 42 million pounds of explosives of bituminous coal.

The top 50 bituminous coal operating groups in 1953 produced a total of 242,677,400 tons, or 53.5 per cent of national production.

In 1953, production of the nation's 50 leading bituminous coal mines was almost 20 per cent more than in 1952.

U.S. bituminous coal production in 1953 of 453 million tons would fill 440 Empire State Buildings, from sub-basement to TV tower.

Removing Straw After Grain Harvest Aids Legume Growth

AGRONOMISTS recommend these steps for helping new legume-grass seedlings make fast, thick growth this summer after the small grain crop is harvested:

1—Remove all straw from your wheat fields after the crop is combined, except where the seeding is made up of sweet clover. By promptly clipping and hauling off the straw, you eliminate harmful shading and allow sunshine and air to reach alfalfa, red clover, Ladino and pasture grasses.

2—Unless the seedlings have had a full feed before planting, top dress with fertilizer high in phosphate and potash, after the straw is removed. This will give the small legume plants the nutrients they need to build husky, winter-resisting roots and thick, healthy topgrowth.

3—Watch for sweet clover beetles, for they have been known to attack alfalfa and other legumes when the sweet clover is not present.

"Getting rid of the straw helps get rid of the danger from fungus and molds encouraged by the dampness under the straw," says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. "These fungus and molds can sometimes destroy the new seeding."

If there is exceptionally heavy growth the new seeding can be clipped and the clippings removed—otherwise, grazing or mowing can weaken the plants and lower their winter resistance. Especially the new legume seedlings should not be grazed until after October 10 or growth has stopped for the winter. The legumes need the fall months to store up in their roots the plant food needed to carry them over the winter and promote rapid growth the following spring.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Growing Older More Happily

One trouble with approaching old age is that so many little pleasures of living are often prohibited. With the best intentions in the world, doctors always seem to be warning, "Don't do this," or "Cut down on that." So it's news—and good news—when a medical authority speaks up in favor of more "pleasant indulgences" for older people.

Since health and happiness go together, it may do more harm than good to deprive ageing people of little habits they enjoy, says Dr. Russell L. Cecil, known throughout the medical world for his textbook of medicine. Now in the seventies himself, Dr. Cecil advises his colleagues to allow their older patients a few of the "more innocuous vices" to make life pleasanter.

Use of Tobacco and Alcohol

Tobacco, for example, is a great comfort to many people. Of course, Dr. Cecil says, there are cases in which it must be prohibited, but "I still favor the moderate use of tobacco for the aged, if no obvious harm results from its use," Dr. Cecil says.

The use of alcohol is less problematic. Most doctors even advise a drink or two as good medicine in certain types of heart disease. For those who worry about the possibility of an older person's forming an alcohol habit, Dr. Cecil has this to say: "There is small danger of an elderly man or woman becoming an alcoholic, unless the habit of drinking has existed for many years previously. The teetotaler or even the moderate drinker practically never drinks to excess in old age."

Other "Innocuous Vices"

Another "innocuous vice" that Dr. Cecil thinks should be allowed is sleep—with the help of a mild sleeping pill, if necessary. He does not believe that moderate use of such drugs as the barbiturates will create dependency or affect intelligence. As to pleasure in eating, "Let the old people eat what they like and can digest, as long as they watch the ever important weight curve," Dr. Cecil says. Similarly, "Overwork is hardly an important vice in the aged, unless coupled with worry," and "Sexual indulgence can hardly be called a vice unless carried to excess." In short, Dr. Cecil expects older patients to show the wisdom of age. With moderation, rather than deprivation, the future years can be happier.

move this damaged corn at considerable discount on to the market during the winter months.
Selling the corn while it is still undamaged would not only prevent loss to CCC corn, but it would materially assist livestock feeders who are very seriously threatened by feed shortages in the drought area," the State Farm Bureau president asserted.
Shuman pointed out that the angoumois moth area coincides with the most serious drought section in Illinois.

SCIENCE and your Health
TREATING SERIOUS BURNS By Science Features
When investigators checked into the causes of death in mass fire disasters ten years ago they found that very few people with severe burns on one-third or more of their bodies survived. Today, after major research projects have developed new medical approaches to the problem, 75 per cent of those suffering from serious second- and third-degree burns do live.
Of the new treatments now being practiced, replacement of fluids and other essential elements lost by the body is very important. Plasma or whole blood and salt solutions - often 12 to 20 pints - are administered during the first 24 hours of care, the amount of fluid depending on the extent of the injury and the size of the patient. Vitamins are lost when the body secretes fluids and interference in absorption takes place. Doctors remedy this by supplying concentrated vitamin compounds such as ASE, the anti-stress formula designed for emergencies.
The bandages and heavy ointments once administered to burned areas have given way to the new "exposure" treatment. This method relies only on natural fluid that the body exudes to cover the wound. To prevent infection of the uncovered burn - infection is still the major cause of death in extensive burns - antibiotics such as penicillin and terramycin are given in large doses.
Medical advances have also done more than save burn victims' lives. New developments in skin grafting and plastic surgery remove most of the physical traces of the injury to help return the patient to a normal life.

The A.O. Smith HARVESTORE

glass-surfaced steel inside and out the world's first mechanical bottom unloading all-crop storage structure

Preserves pasture to feed during drought
Saves forage crops from excessive rain

No Spoilage: The Harvestore is positively sealed to exclude air. This provides oxygen-free storage, prevents damage from mold, insects, and rodents... preserves freshness of crops, retaining all essential nutrients... prevents heating. It stores silage, lush legumes and grasses... any crop... without spoilage. What goes in at the top, comes out at the bottom in perfect condition!

Saves Labor: The Harvestore's mechanical bottom unloader delivers stored crops or silage in the same order as they were put in... at the flip of a switch. Feeds perfectly to mechanical feeding systems. No hand pitching, no hard work, no digging to uncover a trench. The Harvestore unloads itself. Type of power is either electric motor or gas engine, as you wish.

TINLEY MEETS MATCH IN KANKAKEE GAME

With all of the regular season games ended and second place safely tucked under their belts, the Trinity Softball team of Tinley Park went into their tournament game against Kankakee with a will to win. The Tinley team played one of their finest games of the season, if not the best, but were unable to match the stronger and more experienced ball club. Tinley saved a first place ball club in their own conference. Kankakee, 2011 showed them what a close ball game really looked like. Les Beccue pitched all the way for Tinley and allowed only 6 runs, 5 being earned, on 10 hits. His teammates produced 7 runs against the Kankakee pitched but could bunt enough of them together to collect only 3 runs.

Tinley did not score until the sixth inning when they came up with 2 runs. Norman Keuch walked and advanced to second when Les Beccue was hit by the pitcher. Keuch scored on Bob Fremder's double to center, and Beccue scored when Bill Koehler grounded out to the second baseman. Kankakee came up with their first run in the second. The first man up walked and later scored on a double. They got two more runs in the third. The next batter grounded to Warren Schultz who booted the ball. The next batter singled and with 2 out, a double scored these two men.

Tinley's third run came in the last inning. Don Schroeder singled and went to second when the right fielder goggled his hit. He advanced to third on an infield out and scored on Leroy Hoeh's single. Tinley had a couple of good scoring opportunities. Once they had the bases loaded with 2 out and Leroy Hoeh walloped a pitch over the third baseman's head which would have gone for a triple easily had it not been foul by inches.

All in all, it was a tight ball game from beginning to end and it was a loss which Tinley had nothing to be ashamed of. This ball game ends the schedule for this year, but you'll hear from us again next year when we hope to win the championship.

HEALY PONY'S WIN

The Tinley Park Healy Pony's defeated Frankfort 5 to 3 behind the three hit, 14 strikeout pitching of Hartwig. The game was played on the Fulton school diamond Sunday, Aug. 22 at 2:30 p.m.

Frankfort scored two runs in the first inning. Tinley came right back with a four run, four hit attack in their half of the first. TINLEY TAKES HOMECROWD 7-1

Thursday, August 19, the Trinity Walther League of Tinley Park went to Homewood where they played their 12th and final league game. Tinley was the home team here. This was a make-up game which had been rained out Aug. 8 and is the first game in which Tinley did not play on a Sunday afternoon. Tinley Park won 7-1. In winning this game against Homewood, Tinley captured second place in the South Suburban Conference and played Kankakee August 22.

Homewood scored its only run of the ball game in the first inning on a double and 2 errors. Tinley came back for 2 runs in their half of the 1st. Leroy Hoeh reached third on a 3-base error by the right fielder and scored on Carl Bornet's single. A wild pitch, a single by Norm Keuch, and a sacrifice bunt by Les Beccue moved Bornet to third where he scored on Lawrence Rauch's grounder to the shortstop.

Tinley went scoreless in the second inning but scored 3 more in the third. Keuch led off with a single and stole second. Beccue's single scored Keuch with Reck, lf, at the plate and in Kerschke, c, 4 out. Attempting to take third on the play, Beccue was thrown out by the catcher. Lawrence Rauch doubled and scored on a single by Warren Schultz. Schultz stole second and went to third on the shortstop's error, and scored when the second baseman threw wild to the plate.

Tinley's final two runs came in the 4th inning with an error to not Bornet on base, a walk to Keuch, a single by Beccue scoring Bornet, and a double by Bill Koehler scoring Keuch. Les Beccue pitched the whole game for the Tinley team, striking out 4 men, allowing only 3 hits and giving up 1 unearned run in the 1st inning. This brings his season's record up to 5-2.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Current Federal Trade Commission investigations into coupon practices, brings up interesting question which may require Justice Department action.

The question: "Are big corporations using coupons to wreck independent manufacturers, violating laws regarding issuance of money?"

The U.S. Constitution is specific on this matter, some claim.

Section 8 provides Congress shall have power to coin money, to regulate value, and to regulate value of foreign coins. Section 10 prohibits states from coining money, or making anything but gold and silver legal tender.

In other words, no sovereign state can demand, for example, its citizens to accept shoe buttons or any other item, in exchange for goods and services. It must be in legal tender prescribed by Congress.

Thus it now appears to many that some corporations are operating as super-sovereignty exceeding power of any state.

While coupons are not claimed to be currency but merely an offer to pay, it is being found in actual practice they have the full force and effect of currency.

A housewife receives a coupon that tells her to take it to her grocer, buy the product being pushed, and the grocer will knock ten cents or some other amount off the price.

The grocer can legally refuse to honor the coupon. If he refused a genuine U. S. dime for a dime article, he could be deprived of his ability but while

DEKALB CROP AND WEATHER REPORTING

Continued rains over most of the corn belt improved all crops during the past week. Frequent thundershowers brought rain up to four and six inches in some sections, and practically every farm had rain on at least two or three occasions. This moisture added bushels to the corn yield almost everywhere. In the former drought area, ear size and kernel depth were helped where ears were present, and fodder increased in leafiness and greenness, so that silage and dry fodder prospects were helped materially. In the northern sections of excellent corn prospects, continued rains should bring one of the best crops in history. Terrific corn yields are in prospect for northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin where rain fell in June, July and August has totaled as much as fifteen inches, and where corn borer population is not too heavy.

DeKalb Seed Crop and weather observers reported that the rains came soon enough to greatly benefit the soybean crop even in drought areas, and a large crop is in prospect on an increased acreage. Pastures in such formerly dry states as Nebraska and Missouri are greening up to look like spring. Enough moisture has fallen in these states ans' commission has announced that during the fiscal year, July 1, 1953 through June 30, 1954, the IVC counseled 274,077 veterans and performed 336,410 services in their behalf. The Illinois Veterans' commission also established 34,481 new cases during the year and performed services in connection with these new cases.

The office serving Will county is located at 201 N. Ottawa street Joliet, Illinois. Service Officer E. Merle Harrison is in charge of this office and is assisted by his secretaries Margaret Gray and Bettie Lou White.

Manning stated that all veterans should avail themselves of the service performed by the IVC in establishing a permanent record of essential data pertaining their military history. Such a record will prove of great value in the future not only to the veteran himself but to his dependents and survivors.

BIGGEST LOCOMOTIVE

The world's largest single unit locomotive - a coal-burning steam turbine electric 161 feet long and weighing 586 tons—is undergoing tests for the Norfolk and Western Railway. It was high starting tractive efforts and no reciprocating parts, plus the advantage of burning coal, a plentiful fuel.

ONTARIO BIG COAL USER

The Canadian province of Ontario, without coal mines of its own, is far and away Canada's heaviest coal consumer, having imported more than 19½ million tons last year from the U.S.

COAL CHEMICALS

The coal chemical industry today produces from coal 2,000 items, including butter, perfumes, novocaine, cosmetics, nylon, anti-freeze, aspirins, hydraulic brake fluid, tires, auto battery boxes, and sewer pipe, to name a few.

Production of the top 15 bituminous operating coal organizations in 1953 totaled 148,625,725 tons, more than 8½ million tons better than the total for this group in 1952.

BABSON SAYS-

Copyright, 1954, Publishers
Financial Bureau, Inc.

Manufacturers, merchants, and job seekers should always be looking for new industries. Habits are constantly changing.

Vacationing have been on the increase ever since my boyhood. Vacationing is not a new industry. Since World War II, however, it has become a big industry, primarily because of the vacations which almost all employees give their wage workers. Vacations have become a must.

Automobiles have been the factor booming vacations. If your automobile helps you to relax, then an automobile trip is beneficial. If, however, it is tiring and not relaxing, then it is harmful. It does the postman no good to "take a walk" on Sundays! Do something different when on your vacation...something you don't have the time to do ordinarily.

The best vacation is to be able to do as you want to do for two weeks. Get up when you want to, go where you want to, and take a real rest. Give your wife a rest from cooking and washing dishes. Buy things which do not need cooking. Cooking is a bad habit in summer, and dishwashing is worse! Use paper plates in summer!

A real rest includes resting our stomachs. Doctors agree we should give our digestive organs a good vacation each year, spending money for fruits rather than for meats; and drinkings lots of milk and water. In winter we must eat for two reasons: (1) to gain physical strength, and (2) to keep warm. In summer we do not need to eat to keep warm. I forecast that in years ahead people will give much more attention to eating less in the summer. In fact, experts tell me that each season of the year requires a different diet, both as to quantity and quality.

Whatever your business or job, do not forget that "working hours" will be shorter rather than longer. This means that everyone will have more leisure time. This is the reason for the boom in "Do-It-Yourself" industries, which are hurting some trades, but helping others. See your local public library for one of the home-craft magazines which describe such work, or visit one of the many shows which the Orkin people of 19 West 44th St., New York City, are putting on to help merchants.

All the above means that your real pay in future years will be in money plus hours of leisure. Hence, it is of great importance for us to "cash in" on these extra leisure hours by using them in worthwhile ways...not for "hammock swinging." If you are not now a carpenter, mason, or electrician, you should attend night school or subscribe to correspondence course which will teach you how to profitably use these extra leisure hours.

The older conservative investors do not approve of shorter hours, higher wages, etc., but this change is coming. It is foolish to buck it. Most people don't like physical work. This explains why coal stocks have been going down in price, while oil stocks have been going up in price. We prefer a thermostat to a coal shovel or ash sifter!

Stocks of electric refrigerator manufacturers have doubled in value, while the manufacturers of iceboxes have gone into bankruptcy. The tremendous growth of the frozen-food industry including fruit juices illustrates my warning: When making an investment - however small - be sure that it is in a company which saves labor. Make money by catering to the lazy streak in us all. This is why we telephone instead of write. I forecast higher prices for "lazy stocks."

Many merchants are complaining about the "dishonesty" of sales clerks in retail stores when giving back change for a cash register. A study of over 400 stores indicates all these mistakes in change are not due to dishonesty. They are due to the mental laziness of clerks and customers in not counting their change!

Thinking requires energy, the same as does manual labor. Most "white-collar" help hate to think and concentrate. Hence, they make careless mistakes. My father, who had a successful store in Gloucester, Mass., taught me always to count my change, and always tear a little paper off the wrapping of my purchase to be sure I have the right package.

Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator Bridges of New Hampshire have teamed up in proposing a Constitutional Amendment to prohibit the Federal government from spending more money than it takes in each year "except in time of war." There is no chance at present for favorable action by the Congress on this resolution. However, Senator Byrd's proposals in connection with this desirable objective are both feasible and timely and should be adopted. Then, Senator's proposals are as follows:

1. To hold the debt to its present $275,000,000,000 limit.
2. To refrain from "borrowing money to cut taxes."
3. To declare a "moratorium" on all new spending programs.

To help attain these objectives Senator Byrd would:

- (a) Substitute a single-package appropriation bill for the 12 separate bills we now have;
- (b) Give the President the right to veto individual items in appropriation bills;
- (c) Reduce "carry-over" funds (now amounting to about $7,000,000,000); and
- (d) Simplify and clarify the whole slipshod budget machinery.

If Senator Byrd can stop the use of red ink he will head off the Red Program - a program to force the United States to spend itself into bankruptcy.

At the beginning of the fiscal year starting July 1, 1954, there were $104 billion of foreign aid money - appropriated but unexpended and unobligated - available for Harold Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration. When this was pointed out by Senator George in the Senate Appropriations Committee, while considering further appropriations for foreign aid, Harold Stassen rushed into the fray with a declaration that "every dollar of the unobligated amount represents a moral obligation we owe to the various foreign aid programs."

In emphasizing a "theoretical moral obligation" to foreign countries, Mr. Stassen conveniently forgot a direct, specific, and inescapable moral obligation this government, its leaders, and agents owe to the people of the United States, to our overburdened taxpayers who have been milked during the past 14 years of well over $100 billion for foreign aid purposes.

Mr. Stassen also conveniently forgot that our public debt of over $273 billion is more than the debt of all the other nations of the world put together, and more than twice the debt of all the nations of Europe put together.

If this nation is to remain solvent and financially sound, we must rid the Federal government of the internationalists and one-worlders who are leading this nation down the road to national bankruptcy - and that means the Congressmen and Senators who persist in forgetting their moral obligation to our own taxpayers.

(Senator Douglas is one of them). Why barter away our own independence for phony friendships based upon dollar gifts?

Of the 100 nations in the world the United States has the highest standard of living and the highest standard of wages. If our imports destroy more American jobs than our exports create, then we are traveling on the road that leads to job bankruptcy.

Jobs, not fluctuating currencies, are the yardsticks of international trade. If international trade makes more jobs for Americans, then international trade is good for America. If international trade makes fewer jobs for Americans, then international trade is bad for America. The problem of international trade is as simple as that, in so far as the working men of America are concerned. At present American imports represent more jobs than American commercial exports represent, so our international trade program is heading toward job bankruptcy.

The Administration decides the pattern or policies of international trade. If the policy results in unemployment, it becomes the headache and the heartache of the unemployed in the suffering local communities.

Shortly after the turn of this century alternating current was first used in the coal mines and by 1904 centrifugal ventilating fans, electric mine locomotives, shortwall cutting machines, and permissible powder for shooting coal were introduced.

A super-strong conveyor belt—fruit of U.S. industrial research—has been developed to make possible the hauling of thousands of tons of coal an hour on one continuous belt 3 miles long. It is a mile longer than any presently in use.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Christ Jesus' mission to reveal divine healing which overcomes sin, sickness, and sorrow in every age, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson, Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the account as given in Matthew of Jesus' response to the followers of John the Baptist who asked if he was the Messiah (11:4-5): "... Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them."

The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (131: 26-30):

"The mission of Jesus confirmed prophecy, and explained the so-called miracles of olden time as natural demonstrations of the divine power, demonstrations which were not understood. Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship."

The Golden Text is from John (1:17): "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

Some One
Needs You

Lesson for August 29, 1954

IS RIGHT belief all that is needed to make a Christian? In several places in the New Testament a plain NO is given to this question. For one thing, there is the example of Jesus. The first biography of him we have is the thumb-nail sketch from Peter's sermon at Caesarea, spoken (of course) years before the gospels were written down: "He went about doing good." Jesus not only was good, he did good. He spent his time helping people.

What can we say of a "Christian" who makes no effort to do as Christ did? Then James and John, different types though they were, agree on the same point. James says flatly that faith without works is dead, and a look at the whole paragraph where he says this, shows that the "works" he is thinking of are just the giving of "things needed for the body," to those who are ill-clad and in need of daily food. As for John, he makes the same point: if a man sees his brother in need and closes his heart to him, how can the love of God be in such a man?

Need for Bread
Some one needs you. This is as certain as that you are a human being. Nowhere in the New Testament is it suggested that any one should be so super-generous as to make a pauper out of himself. But all through the New Testament it is strongly suggested that if there is a need in the world that we can supply, we do not have to ask ourselves, What shall I do? but only How can I help? The simplest needs are physical. There are children in our own families; there are the perpetually poor, the unemployed, the defectives, in every community. There are people without work, hard-up people, even in the best of times. These are people you can see.

And you do not have to travel farther than the nearest church to be reminded of hungry people you will never see but whom you can help through that church. In Korea, for example, missionaries in every church that is at work there have been spending a large part of their time, in these last few years, in famine relief. Through "Church World Service," CROP and other interdenominational agencies you are offered the chance to help widows and orphans who without your help would simply starve. When your church helps to support "agricultural missions" you are helping people in backward countries to farm more intelligently and feed more people on the same amount of land.

Not by Bread Alone...
But man does not live by bread alone, though to be sure he does live by bread. Just because he is man and not brute, he has needs which are mental and spiritual. Every minister of a prosperous congregation knows families that never have needed help to pay their bills; they have all the money they need and all that money can buy. But these may be among the most needy families of the congregation, their lives may be empty, or filled with fear and despair. Physically well-fed, spiritually starving people are all around us. In these days in particular there is need for cheer and courage. We are certainly living in the darkest hours of human history, and many believe these are the last hours of the human race. At such a time men's hearts melt within them.

Sharing and Bearing
There are also the needs of those who have missed the mark, who have been (to quote Paul) "overtaken in a fault," and need above all to have their spiritual health restored, they need to "get right" with God and man. Here again is a need which Christians supply not only to those whom they personally know, but—through the missionary work of the church which they support—to others around the globe. Wherever, in mid-Africa or in a lonely western mining camp, or anywhere else, the message of Christ is brought by those who are supported by churches such as those in your community, there the Christians in the home churches are helping the deepest human needs perhaps better than they could if they were there themselves. Each of us has his own load of responsibility to bear; but also each of us can share some of the burdens of the heavy-laden, near and far.

FORD IS FIRST IN SALES

—by thousands

National new-car registration figures* for the first six months of 1954 prove that Ford leads the industry in sales! In fact, ever since car production has been free of restrictions, more and more new-car buyers have been swinging over to Ford. That's because Ford offers more things for more people than any other car. In today's Ford, for example, you get the matchless benefits of owning the only car in the low-price field with a V-8 engine (the new Ford Y-block V-8) ... the only car in Ford's field with the smooth ride of Ball-Joint Front Suspension ... the only car in Ford's field with truly modern styling ... the only car in Ford's field with such high resale value.

Changes in the Air
The chief difference between flying and other forms of travel is, of course, the matter of altitude. The higher you go, the less oxygen is available. There are conditions, such as cardiac or pulmonary diseases, where this may make flying uncomfortable or even dangerous. Also, as altitude increases, barometric pressure decreases. As a result, normal gases in the human body expand — another source of possible trouble, especially for people with certain lung or gastrointestinal conditions.

Conditions to Check
Most people — and even most patients — can take these changes in their stride. In general, says Dr. McFarland, "those who can walk may fly," and many patients favor plane travel for its ease and convenience. Plane travel is not detrimental even to most patients with heart disease, "unless either the disease or the exposure is severe." That rule holds true for most other "questionable" conditions—hypertension, pulmonary diseases such as asthma or tuberculosis, severe anemic states, gastrointestinal disorders. So much depends on individual circumstances, however, that the only safe thing to do if you have any such condition is to

HEALTH HORIZONS
Travel Tips for Patients
Are you fit for a flying trip? With plane travel so much taken for granted these days, you might not even stop to think before hopping aboard for a quick visit somewhere. But there are certain people who should think about what flying might do to their health, advises Dr. Ross A. McFarland of the Harvard School of Public Health in his recent book, "Human Factors in Air Transportation." If you happen to be among this small minority, it's a good idea to check with your doctor before making a plane reservation.

Consult your physician before planning a plane trip.
Preparations for a Comfortable Trip
If your doctor O.K.'s your plans, you can enhance your chances for a comfortable trip by taking a few simple precautions. First, to avoid a feeling of fullness when the barometric pressure falls, eat moderately during the hours before enplaning. Don't delay your last meal so that you'll have to rush through it just before flight time. Avoid alcoholic or carbonated beverages, and drugs like bicarbonate of soda or effervescent powders. Then, a half hour before taking off, take one or two of those little green Scopodex pills — the motion sickness preventive that the U.S. Air Force has found so effective. You can get Scopodex at any drug store. Once on the plane, tilt your seat back as far as it will go — and you're off to a relaxing, restful trip.

'Face Lift' for Pasture Pays in More Meat, Milk

MORE DOLLARS will roll next summer into the pockets of livestock and dairy farmers who renovate run-down permanent pastures this fall, points out the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Pastures that are renovated and fertilized can double their livestock carrying capacity, according to Purdue University agronomists. Such pastures not only produce more grass and legumes, but higher quality forage as well. This means lower feed costs, cheaper gains on meat animals and cheaper milk from dairy cows.

Reviving pastures by renovation involves: 1—Killing out the old sod; 2—Liming the soil where needed; 3—Building the nutrient fertility by adding fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash; and 4—Reseeding with high yielding adapted strains of legumes and grasses. To kill out the old sod, fields can be shallow plowed this fall, cut up with a disc or dug with a field cultivator. The lime and fertilizers needed to assure the success of the renovation process should be broadcast and worked into soil.

In Southern parts of the Corn Belt, says the committee, the entire renovation process can be completed this late summer and fall. But in the more Northern parts the sod can be killed out this fall, the field left rough over the winter and then worked down and seeded next spring. If the field is left rough over the winter the clods and pockets will hold the run-off water to a minimum and cut erosion.

Then next spring, one trip over the field with a field cultivator and spike toothed harrow can break up the clods and prepare a good seedbed. Best results are usually obtained from seeding a mixture of both legumes and grasses. Shallow seeding and good contact of seed with soil is needed to get a good stand of most small seeded legumes.

Fall-Fed Meadows Cut Winter Kill Yield Extra Hay

LATE SUMMER top-dressing of phosphate and potash fertilizer on legume-grass meadows will pay off in extra tons of higher quality hay next year, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The top-dressing can be profitably done after the second cutting of hay, the committee points out. "Agronomists point out that the phosphate and potash will nourish the legume-grass stand and increase its full growth," says a statement issued by the committee.

"These nutrients will enable the root system to store up plant foods necessary to tide the plant over severe weather, so that winter-killing will not be such a hazard. The plants will have nutrients necessary to start growth in the spring."

It is profitable to top-dress new seedings with phosphate-potash fertilizer where they were not properly fertilized at seeding time, or where soil building applications of fertilizer are needed to get top production from the legume stands. Here again, the nutrients provided by the top-dressing will help carry the legumes through extreme weather conditions.

Some agronomists recommend adding from 300 to 500 pounds per acre of a fertilizer such as 0-20-20; 0-10-20, or 0-10-30, depending on the soil's need for potash.

Fullest benefits will be obtained if the fertilizer is put on as soon as possible after the last cutting of hay.

While the invention of the underfeed coal stoker is thought of as occurring about 30 years ago, actually a company was formed in Glasgow, Scotland in the summer of 1882 to market a coal stoker of revolutionary design — a fed coal from the bottom and the fire burned on top!

African Coal-To-Oil Plant

Preliminary operations of a $100 million coal-to-oil plant in South Africa are scheduled to begin soon, and if the plant proves successful, it will be able to process one ton of coal costing about 84 cents into fuel and chemical products worth about $9. The plant is expected to produce about 55 million gallons of gasoline annually, 4½ million gallons of diesel oil, and over one million gallons of fuel oil, plus chemical by-products that will bring its total production value to about $28 million annually.
